

Transformation to Oneness

by Charlottemarie

“Mystery of Life, vibrant in every atom...
Mystery of Light, glowing in every Being and Creature...
Mystery of Love, closer than my breath embracing all in Oneness.
In the infinite stream of unity, may all who dwell, know themselves as Love and feel as One with each other.”

Not too long ago the ideology of unity imbibed the concept of co-existing ideals, beliefs and tolerance. Things have changed dramatically. We are now rapidly awakening from the core of our cells to the subtle dimensional fields of energy. The concept of unity no longer exists as an externalized structure but has shifted to a subtle vibrational holographic field of Love generated from the Heart, a new lens of consciousness from which all form and action is born. As the expansive, ever changing momentum of the universe(s) influences the landscape of our reality through subtle vibration, humanity is organically ushered into the experience of Self as the microcosmic particle of the macrocosm. It is here where Love cannot help but be the dictating force of oneness.

Love, the cosmic glue that permeates and unifies all existence is the driving source of our evolution as it activates vibrating portals of consciousness in the heart. Love in its purest expression exceeds romantic entertainment. Authentic Love takes on a new hue of meaning from the depths of our hearts and souls. So strong a current, the mind cannot help but surrender. Ever changing, yet the same, Love, the only constant that remains true to the nature of Source. Love, the vibrant breath of life that speaks through the Being.

“Love, cast your fragrance of eternal light through the fated winds of life.
I yearn for one drop of your sweetness that burns illusion to cinder so my Heart can taste freedom.”

Many ancient teachings including the Yoga Sutras of Patanjali are guides to understanding and mastering the mind to the source consciousness. Practices like yoga and meditation serve as tools of awareness and activation where one experiences individual consciousness merging with supreme consciousness. There is a pathway of applying thought, I call, “Conscious Alchemy” where one observes thought, feels the vibration of thought and transforms the kaleidoscope of perceptions to one singular vibrational thought wave of love. It is here where unity and oneness is experienced.

“Love in one breath you dwell in the space between words...
In one breath you heal... In one breath, I become.”

Our brain, glandular system, nervous system, and energetic systems are designed for enlightenment. Realizing this, awakening to the remembrance can be a gradual process where life itself serves as a platform for our unfolding light. Invoking Love, life becomes a feast for giving love of One-Self dancing in the radiance of oneness that originates beyond consciousness to the source of creation.

We become the experience of oneness as we disappear into the vast masterpiece of Love.

Transformation happens with every thought, breath and spark of awareness. We make the choice. Like flowers to the sun, the human spirit reaches beyond “matter and fact” to grab the opportunity to Love as the breath of the universe merges every atom of our Being to a place beyond the description of words.

Humanity has reached a passage in our evolution where we have the opportunity to be vanguards of a new paradigm. Where inter-dependence evolves into a co-creative cycle of unity. The past and the future merge in a split second of a conscious choice of Love with every breath of the present, opening the door to eternal merging of oneness.

“Love, you've kissed me drunk
all I see is you in every face, I taste you in every tear
I dream you in every realm
I walk on your earth, my feet become liquid light
Love, you've kissed me drunk
in the mirror I wake... I cannot turn away.”
